Dear Brian,

You were amazing! Before finding you, I had no idea there was such a thing as a professional Simon Says caller and I was skeptical of how entertaining such an activity could be. You won me over with your enthusiasm, energy and talent just in the few phone conversations we had in setting up the event.

Your command of the group, fun personality and ability to read (and trick) a crowd of 300+ participants was truly watching an artist in action. Add to that you started and ended exactly on time, having been given a very specific 30 minute time-line. You even adapted your clothes to fit the location – with a Simon Says Hawaiian shirt! My favorite memory was when Simon started off telling a conference of dentists to tilt their head back, open their mouth, wider, and speak—I was buckled over laughing when you said “how do you like it?”

As great of a performance as you provided, my greatest respect goes to your professionalism, the ease and efficiency in communications with you, and how very pleasant you are to work with.

Thank you so much for adding a valuable and entertaining event to our team building games.

Kind regards,

Emma Croston
